PAUL'S LAST MESSAGE

LESSON TEXT—II Timothy 4:1-18
GOLDEN TEXT—I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Last Message to His Friends.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Farewell to His Friends.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Christian's Goal.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Victorious Faith.

I. Paul's View of Death (v. 6).

It is:

1. An offering (v. 6). "I am ready to be offered." This specifically means a drink offering—a libation. This figure shows that Paul was looking forward to a violent death. The shedding of his blood was to be an offering poured out upon the sacred altar as an act of worship. Death can only be an offering to God when the life has been wholly yielded to the doing of God's will.

2. A departure (v. 6). "The time of my departure is at hand." The same idea is expressed in Philippians 1:23. "Departure" is a nautical term which signifies the loosing of a ship from its moorings, in order to enter upon its voyage. It is not the end of the voyage, but its beginning. It indicates that the vessel is outward bound. The anchor is being lifted and the sails are being spread for the homeland.

II. Paul's Backward Glance at Life (v. 7).

God has a definite purpose for each life. Life should be so spent that at its close one can look back with the definite consciousness that that purpose has been accomplished. This backward look is presented in three figures:

1. "I have fought a good fight." The figure here is that of a soldier. The Christian life is a warfare—conflicts, dangers and temptations must be met. As a soldier, the Christian must fight and overcome all these.

2. "I have finished my course." The figure is that of an athlete who sets out to win a race. The Christian life is a race to be run; we must not only begin the race, but persistently run to the end.

3. "I have kept the faith." The figure is that of a husbandman to whom had been entrusted a treasure. This treasure was the Christian faith.

III. Paul's Forward Look to the Future (v. 8).

1. He saw before him a life with God. Fellowship with God is a prize greatly to be desired.

2. A prize was held up for him—a crown of righteousness. This award will be given at the coming of the Lord to all who love His appearing.

IV. Paul's Associates (vv. 9-12).

Paul was a very lonely man, though faithful to God. To be alone in the world is likely to be the experience of all who follow hard after God.

1. Demas the renegade (v. 10). Demas has become immortalized as one who was religious, but because of the attractions of the world he went after it. The love of the world caused him to turn his back upon principle, friendship, honor and duty.

2. Luke the faithful (v. 11). What a comfort it must have been to have with him this one faithful soul! Perhaps he was the best fitted of all to minister unto Paul.

3. Mark the restored runaway (v. 11). Mark had gone back, but he was restored. We do not know how long a time elapsed between his running away and his restoration.

V. Personal Matters (vv. 13-18).

1. Bring the cloak, books and parchments (v. 13). In the jail the cloak would be needed for his comfort. The books and parchments would be needed for his study and writing.

2. Alexander the coppersmith (vv. 14, 15). We have no way of determining just when the coppersmith did him much evil, it was given as a warning to this young minister, Timothy.

3. Defended by the Lord though forsaken by men (vv. 16-18).

Paul in his last trying hours was much like his Lord—left alone. He says, "All men forsook me." It was said of Christ, "They all forsook him and fled." Paul manifests a like spirit, "I pray God that it might not be laid to their charge." Christ said, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." Though it was wrong for them to leave him alone, he not only forgave them, but prayed that the Lord might forgive them.

Red Cross Membership Is Sound Investment, Business Leader Says

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction," is the statement of William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in endorsing the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, Nov. 11-29. Mr. Butterworth's statement follows:

"The men engaged in carrying forward the business and industry of this nation are quick to respond, and respond generously, when human suffering calls for their assistance. They welcome the existence of an organization authorised by international treaty and congressional charter to act as their agency, and the agency of all the people, in providing relief in disaster and promoting their beneficial services to humanity. The nation's business men take particular pleasure in supporting The American National Red Cross because it has applied sound and efficient business technique and administrative methods without sacrifice of sympathy and understanding in the prevention and mitigation of human suffering.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as representative of the nation's business, has such confidence in the American Red Cross that it calls upon its member organizations to contribute to relief in disaster only upon Red Cross assurance that an appeal is necessary.

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction. The Red Cross is seeking to increase its membership to five million; the opportunity to join its ranks is presented by the Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation from November 11 to 29. It is good to be a link in this great chain of service reaching around the world."

(Signed)
WILLIAM BUTTERWORTH,
President
The Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Fifty nations fly the Red Cross flag. For all it carries the symbolic meaning of help in time of distress; of health preservation; disease prevention, and international co-operation in humane effort, which recognizes no frontier, no difference in language, but only merciful help for all men.

Cotton Is Successful on Islands Off Virginia

Urbana, Va.—James Barnhardt, a young farmer, has been so successful in growing cotton on the islands on the Virginia coast that old-timers, who at first ridiculed his project, have emulated his example in this region. Some believe cotton definitely has replaced the Irish potato as the main crop.

Because of the milder weather along the coast the bolls are brought to fruition before the frosts which would kill them further inland. As yet the boll weevil has not found its way into this vicinity.

Expensive Fish

New York.—One hundred pounds British gold for one fish was the top price paid at the recent British Aquarium association exhibition in London. The fish was a blue, telescope-eyed veiltail, one of the new forms of goldfish bred by the Japanese. Gold white and black in these forms are common, but blue is rarer color.

Fog Horn Silenced to Please Resort Colony

Bexhill, England.—"Mournful Mary" has lost her job. She has been given a full month's notice, and the nerve-racked residents of the fashionable resorts within sound of her wails are jubilant.

The only friends "Mournful Mary" has are the members of the Imperial Merchant Service guild which guards the interests of merchant seamen. They have submitted a protest against her dismissal with Trinity house.

What will fog-bound ships do, they ask indignantly, if Mary's piercing shriek fails to warn them that they are approaching the most dangerous turning in the English channel? For Mary is the foghorn of the Royal Sovereign lightship, and if she isn't popular with the residents at least the sailors appreciate her.

Uncle Eben

"De man wif a voice so big dat he drowns out de harmony," said Uncle Eben, "thinks de discord makes him de leader of de choir."—Washington Star.

Another Myth Blasted

For years the bears of Kodiak island have been a bugaboo that rivaled the child-stealing witches for terror. Recent explorations have been conducted in the islands and it is now stated that Kodiak bears are no worse than others.

Bearing Ill News

It is above all things strange to see how men bear ill news! Often the strongest till then become the weakest, while the weakest, as it were, reach up and steal strength from the gods.—Kipling

Properties of Feathers

It is believed that in the development of wings and powers of flight in birds those feathers nearest the body were the first to become serviceable, but now the most important flight feathers are those of the outer margin. Wing feathers vary in strength, shape and power of flight, according to the mode of life of the different birds.

Fr. lness of Men

I have observed of my sex that there is a candor in their private conversations with each other that would know nothing about. In such contacts men admit their faults with proper shame, confess they should do better, and frequently do. I have learned much from such intimacies, as much as from any other source. Men of real worth rarely boast; they are disposed to apologize.—E. P. Howe's Monthly.

Criticism Not Enough

The prime thing that every man who takes an interest should remember is that he must act, and not merely criticise the actions of others.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. M. F. Fink, of Harrisburg, N. C., says: "It must have been fully twenty-five years ago that I began taking Black-Draught regularly.

"I was in town one day, and while talking to a friend I stooped over to pick up something. When I straightened up, I felt dizzy. I spoke to him about this and how I had not felt like eating.

"My friend told me to take some Black-Draught. I knew my mother had used it, and so I bought a package. When I got home, I took a good, big dose, and the next night, another. In a few days I felt much better.

"A good many times I have had this dizziness and a bad taste in my mouth, or headaches, and then I take Black-Draught and get better. I do not have to take it very often. We buy from five to seven packages a year." Try it!

Degrees in Music

The distinct degrees most frequently conferred in English-speaking countries for work in music are Mus. B.—Bachelor of Music—and Mus. D.—Doctor of Music. Less frequently the degree Mus. M.—Master of Music—is granted. In Germany the Ph. D. degree is granted instead of Mus. D., thus placing specialized work in music on a par with other studies.

Needed Calories

As a rule it is appropriate to assume that an American man or woman who tends a quiet life at home with little exercise requires about 2,500 calories each day. If engaged in sedentary occupation, 3,000 calories are required. A moderate amount of exercise or a laborer doing light work needs about 3,500 calories. For hard work, 4,000 calories or more are necessary.

-a Six in the price range of the four!

Everywhere The Outstanding Chevrolet is being hailed as a spectacular achievement in advanced design, because it embodies the greatest array of improvements ever offered on any automobile of comparable price.

Here, for example, is a marvelous new six-cylinder, valve-in-head engine whose design represents over four years of development and testing on the part of Chevrolet and General Motors engineers. It has numerous advancements typified by a non-detonating, high-compression cylinder head—gasoline pump with filter, and automatic rocker arm lubrication. It provides performance the like of which was never before available in the low-price field—marvelous smoothness, tremendous reserve power and sensationally swift acceleration—all with an economy averaging better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

Here are new and improved four-wheel brakes unsurpassed for silence in operation, positive action and ease of adjustability!

Here are marvelous new Fisher bodies introducing a new order of beauty, smartness and luxury.

And here, also, are other features by the score—each an impressive example of automotive progress—each contributing to outstanding performance, quiet operation, long life, ease of control and economical ownership!

We cordially invite you to visit our showrooms and secure complete and detailed information regarding this great new car, which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.
